

Argentina Approves GM Corn

Genetically modified corn event DP-098 that contains genes for GAT4621 (glyphosate acetyltransferase) and ZM-HRA (a modified maize acetolactate synthase) has been approved for commercialization in Argentina. The corn is rendered resistant to glyphosate and acetolactate synthase herbicides such as sulfonylureas and imidazolinones.

See the approval at:-

http://www.minagri.gob.ar/site/agricultura/biotecnologia/55-OGM_COMERCIALES/index.php